

THE BREEDERS: Safari EP (4AD)

Kim Deal from the Pixies . . . her identical twin Kelley . . .
Josephine Wiggs . . . Tanya Donnelly from Throwing Muses
. . . Wow, if I was a male record reviewer I'd probably have ejaculated all over my Patti Smith albums by now. Actually, taking into account my complete lack of interest in both Ms Deal's and Ms Donnelly's other bands, 'Safari' turned out to be fairly bearable in the end. True, 'Do You Love Me Now!' and 'Don't Call Home' are a plodding Let's-Write-Songs-Like-The-Boys-Do dullard and pretentious Karen Finlay-type performance fart respectively, but the title track is a predatory growler and 'So Sad About Us' almost convinced me that Kim and her pompous fat-boy mate Blockhead Francis should be allowed to live (despite being so long past their kill-by dates).
Worth stealing from someone you don't like.
